

Hi sayang,

I took the time to reflect on myself. I thought about all the things I've said to you and it really does sound like I'm some self centered bitch. I'm sorry. I really am. I've realised and taken into account my actions and the things that I've said. It wasn't nice and I should've understood the position you were in and the situation you were facing. I didn't think twice and went on and on without thinking about how you would feel and more on how I felt. That was very wrong of me to do. The way I behaved was childish and completely inappropriate. So from the very bottom of my heart, I'm sorry. I really am.

There are many things going on in my life at the moment but I figured that making peace with you and genuinely apologising to the person that I love is more of a priority compared to the other things I'm facing. It doesn't sit right with me knowing that I've hurt you with my words when I should be the person who calms you down and be the place you run back to when you face a problem. I'm embarrassed of myself. I really am. I know myself and the way I acted was nothing like me. No amount of apology that I say would make you feel any better but I promise you I'll try to change myself for the better and make you feel comfortable around me again.

I'll change the way that I form my sentences, the way I behave, the way that I think. I'll change my mindset, I'll try to understand you better. I've watched videos, read articles, listed down all the things I've done wrong, and asked myself what I should be doing instead. I love you so much and I want to be a better person for you. I want to love you in all the correct manners and treat you in ways I, myself, have never felt before. The only things that I've ever wanted is to make you feel appreciated, heard, cared for, and loved. But I made you feel otherwise due to my desperation and childishness. Everything was completely my fault and I truly apologise.

You don't deserve to be burdened by all my actions but you still choose to tell me what I did was wrong and voiced out your feelings. I extremely appreciate you for pointing out my mistakes instead of choosing to put an end to the both of us. You gave me another chance and I'll do my best not to disappoint you again. I love you. Know I'm really sorry. Thank you.