

Every night, as I gaze upon the stars,
I think of you.
Wondering if there could ever be the time,
Where you laid next to me,
As we share stories,
Confessions,
Laughters,
And memories.

Never was there a moment in time,
Where you weren't crossing my mind.
There you stayed,
At the very front of my thoughts,
Easing away all my stress and exhaustion.

My heart races at the very thought of you,
The careless whisper of your name,
The sight of your elegantly beautiful features,
The soft murmur of your voice.

Your smile captivates my heart,
Your eyes swallows me whole,
Your voice leads me to wander,
Your giggles spark a light.

You are where I'm lost in,
Indulged by your everlasting beauty.