

Hi sayang,

It's not much of a surprise that you clicked on this because even I would get annoyed with me. To be completely honest, this is the first one out of the others that I'm writing. I'm sorry that sometimes I'm annoying. You've always tolerated my bullshits and randomness and nobody was able to do such things without getting mad at me and starts raising their voices. You, however, have always stayed calm and talked to me by telling me what it is you don't like me doing and I really appreciate that.

Whatever it is that I did that made you open this pdf, I'm sorry. If you haven't already, let me know what it is that I did that you didn't like. Because most of the time, I'm very clueless. I'd think what I'm doing is right when you feel like it isn't so just point it out to me and I'll try my very best to fix it on my part. I like communicating problems and figuring things out together so please do let me know what I did wrong.

Anyways, it's completely normal for you to be annoyed at me. I know I'm very childish and immature at times. I'm really sorry that my behaviour brought you to feeling this way towards me. If it feels like I wouldn't and couldn't change, please trust me when I say that I really am trying my hardest. It doesn't take just one night to change entirely so I beg for your patience with me.

Thank you so much sayang. I love you. You're reading this in the future so I most definitely love you more then.